

DATE:

NAME:

TELEPHONE:

PICKUP LOCATION: / 98 VINE ST / 142 STANLEY AVE / (CIRCLE ONE, CONTACT TO ARRANGE)

PRICING	QUANTITY	HEIRLOOM TOMATOES
4-PLANT CELL PACKS: $3 each (3 for $9) 48-PLANT TRAYS: $18 each (2 for $30)		Market A - Large Beefsteak
		Market B - Mini Beefsteak
4-PLANT CELL PACKS: $4 each (3 for $10) 48-PLANT TRAYS: $20 each (2 for $36)		Thumbelina - Red Micro Cherry
		Gold Rush - Yellow Micro Cherry
		Rainbow Heirloom Mix
		Rainbow Heirloom Mix *Cherry
		Yellow Heirloom Mix
PRICING	QUANTITY	PRE-PLANTED CONTAINER GARDENS
$5 each (2 for $8)		Salad Garden (SMALL, 3 PLANTS)
		Sandwich Garden (SMALL, 3 PLANTS)
		Micro Tomato Garden (SMALL, 3 PLANTS)
$10 (2 for $15)		Salad Garden (LARGE, 5-8 PLANTS)
		Sandwich Garden (LARGE, 5-8 PLANTS)
PRICING	QUANTITY	VEGETABLE SEEDLINGS (10cm pot)
$3 each (4 for $10)		Garden Cucumber
		National Pickling Cucumber
		Nasturtium Edible Flowers
		Jack of All Trades Pumpkin
		Early Canada Watermelon
		Dark Green Zucchini

Order notes:

HEIRLOOM TOMATO TRANSPLANTS

4-CELL (4-PLANT) INSERTS, 12x INSERTS PER TRAY

Micro Tomatoes – Thumbelina (Red) or Gold Rush (Yellow)

A perfect introduction to backyard farming, these teeny tiny tomatoes are a bite of sunshine on a warm summer day. Micro tomatoes are even smaller than cherry tomatoes, think currants or blueberries, but don't let the fruit size fool you... the plants themselves are vigorous producers and while happy in containers can easily take over a small garden. The prolific fruit can be labour intensive to pick, but the sweet-tangy pop is well worth it.

Rainbow Heirloom Mix

- ❖ Black Cherry
- ❖ Black Prince
- ❖ Cuore Di Bue
- ❖ Green Zebra
- ❖ Green Doctors
- ❖ Market A
- ❖ Market B
- ❖ OSU Blue
- ❖ Yellow Garden Peach
- ❖ Yellow Pear

Rainbow Heirloom Mix *Cherry

- ❖ red: Thumbelina
- ❖ orange: Ida Gold
- ❖ yellow: Gold Rush
- ❖ yellow: Yellow Pear
- ❖ green: Green Doctors
- ❖ blue: OSU Blue
- ❖ purple: Black Cherry

Yellow Heirloom Tomato Mix

*Yellow tomatoes are low-acid and easier to digest.

Yellow Garden Peach – Medium Slicer

The first time I encountered Yellow Garden Peach tomatoes, I was so confused! Midsummer, sitting alongside piles of fruit at a Farmers Market were these fuzzy yellow peach-looking... fruits? ...apricots?tomatoes!? Yes, these medium, yellow-blush, fuzzy tomatoes do indeed resemble peaches! This cultivar is productive, disease-resistant, hardy and tolerant of wet cold summers, but their soft skins don't keep well. Due to the colour, these particular tomatoes are rich in iron and vitamin B5, and have a sweet, mild flavour. Medium sized, juicy fruits are suitable for slicing and eating fresh.

90 days / indeterminate

Yellow Perfection – Medium Slicer

Early, yellow, medium sized round slicer. This early, flavourful gem makes a great salad tomato. Sweet, juicy and low in acidity, but thin skinned, so best when picked straight from the garden for slicing or eating fresh. Highly productive plants, these English heirlooms are tolerant of short or wet summers, producing early, until frost.

70 days / indeterminate

Ida Gold – Two-Bite Size

A beautiful, sunset golden, small round slicer. These are one of my favourite small tomatoes, incredibly delicious when picked warm from the sun for fresh, salads, slicing or pizza. Sturdy, low-growing plants are very early to mature, and produce a heavy flush of well-keeping fruits. Ideal for short seasons, or early markets. Well suited to containers.

60 days / determinate

Yellow Pear – Bite Size

These fun, lemon yellow, pear-shaped tomatoes grow in prolific clusters, dependably through hot summer weather and endlessly into cooler autumn nights. With a sweet, mellow flavour they make a great fresh garden snack or were traditionally made into preserves. Very productive plants can get tall and lanky, need staking and suckering. Moderately resistant to disease.

80 days / indeterminate

Gold Rush – Micro Bite Size

A perfect introduction to backyard farming, these teeny tiny tomatoes are a bite of sunshine on a warm summer day. Micro tomatoes are even smaller than cherry tomatoes, think currants or blueberries, but don't let the fruit size fool you... the plants themselves are vigorous producers and while happy in containers can easily take over a small garden. The prolific fruit can be labour intensive to pick, but the sweet-tangy pop is well worth it.

75 days / indeterminate

PRE-PLANTED CONTAINER GARDENS

SMALL (3 PLANTS) / LARGE (5-8 PLANTS)

SALAD GARDEN (SMALL + LARGE)

APRIL (WILL CHANGE SEASONALLY)

- ❖ Long Standing Bloomsdale Spinach
- ❖ Grand Rapids Curly Leaf Lettuce
- ❖ Green Venture Bunching Onions
- ❖ Fordhook Giant Swiss Chard
- ❖ Sparkler White Tip Radish
- ❖ Detroit Red Beet Greens

MICRO TOMATO GARDEN (SMALL ONLY)

- ❖ Thumbelina – Red Micro 60 days, indeterminate balanced sweet and tart, very juicy, great for snacking
- ❖ Gold Rush – Yellow Micro 75 days, indeterminate
warm sweet flavour, lower in acid, easier to digest
- ❖ Genovese Basil 4-6 weeks from seed to harvest
shiny, large, dark green leaves, pronounced flavour good for pesto

A perfect introduction to backyard farming, teeny tiny micro tomatoes are a bite of sunshine on a warm summer day. Micro tomatoes are even smaller than cherry tomatoes, think currants or blueberries, but don't let the fruit size fool you... the plants themselves are vigorous producers and while happy in containers can easily take over a small garden. The prolific fruit can be labour intensive to pick, but the sweet-tangy pop is well worth it. Basil makes a great companion plant, filling in this container garden and deterring pests.

See <https://garddwest.com/garddwest/resources/> for planting instructions, tips and resources

SANDWICH GARDEN (SMALL + LARGE)

- ❖ Cuore Di Bue – Medium Oxheart 85 days / indeterminate
The first tomato I ever saved seeds from was a rich, meaty Italian Oxheart tomato labelled in sharpie 'Cuore Di Bue' and grown by my first mentor Teresa for the Thunder Bay Farmers Market. I have been saving and growing these seeds all over Canada since 2005 so their lineage has probably strayed from Teresa's but they remain a reliably producing medium paste tomato with a sweet flavour and dense texture. Needs staking.
- ❖ Market B – Mini Beefsteak 80 days / indeterminate
Named for its label in my research journal, as one of many blind trial tomatoes I grew at Niagara College. Starting from Microbeicum Occemus (also known as Santorini Paste Tomato) seeds donated by Michel Lachaume at a growers meeting, it has taken on a life of its own since 2010, crossing happily with many of my other market favourites (including Sudduth's Brandywine) until I arrived at this foolproof, reliable, production tomato with superb flavour. Mini for a beefsteak, but really a medium slicer in beefsteak shape, with sweet, crinkled, marbled pinky red flesh. Vigorous producers with little cracking, long shelf life, easy separation from calyx, robust flavour and medium size seed cavities.
- ❖ Black Prince – Medium Slicer 70 days / indeterminate
I have tried many purple/brown tomatoes with mixed success, but I've been growing these Black Prince seeds since 2011 with great results. Originating from Siberia, these very productive plants thrive in cool climates and tolerate wetter conditions than many varieties. Equally suitable as a paste and sauce tomato or fresh and sliced, they range from plum to dark garnet and routinely win blind taste tests for their rich, sweet, juicy flavours.

See <https://garddwest.com/garddwest/resources/> for planting instructions, tips and resources